

The Leap of Space

1. You see the title "Leap of Space" in bold with a space-themed background and a "play" button below the words.
2. Once you press the "play" button you see all the planets in the solar system with a title saying "choose your planet". The background is navy blue with small white stars.
3. You tap on a planet to select it. Once you do so it has your planet circled with a zig-zag bright yellow bubble.
4. After 3 seconds, it says this planet's gravity and it says roughly what position is gravity order (e.g. it is in the middle range). The background is this planet's colour scheme.
5. Once you press the screen you see your astronaut on the planet. The background will be the dark navy blue space with flickers of white stars on it.
6. After 3 seconds you get a random general knowledge science question. The higher the force of gravity, the harder the question and vice versa.
7. You tap on the screen to answer the question. You can either get a question you have to write in (spelling doesn't have to be correct) or a multiple choice question.
8. Once you give your answer, four black dots appear in the middle of the screen as a loading screen.
9. Once 3 seconds has passed you have 2 paths
 1. If: If you get it correct the word "correct" will appear on the screen in bold green letters and a tick in same colour and thickness will appear next to the words.
Once 3 seconds has passed your astronaut will move up to a platform above it.
From screen 6, there will be an infinite loop until else happens.
 2. Else: You get it incorrect, the word "incorrect" will appear on the screen in bold red with a cross in the same thickness and colour will appear on the screen.
Once 3 seconds have passed your astronaut will fall down to the bottom.
10. Your astronaut will stand on the planet. The background will be the dark navy blue space with flickers of white stars on it.
11. Then the word "finish" will appear in zig-zag bright yellow circle (the circle will only be a semi-circle. On the bottom of the word "finish", would be the black and white race finish pattern)
12. If: If you achieve a new (personal) record for that planet than the words "New Record" will appear with the zig-zag bright yellow circle around it.
13. End: Your name will appear on the leaderboard with how much of a streak you got.

14. There will be a "try again" button and a "home" button. The "try again" button will let you try the same planet again and the "home" button will lead you to the starting screen so that you can press it and choose a new planet.
